BIOGRAPHY

Letícia Bastos joined Licks Attorneys specializing in patent litigation, bringing more than a decade of experience from some of Brazil's most challenging intellectual property disputes. Since 2014, she has handled complex infringement and invalidity lawsuits across pharmaceutical, telecommunications, and mechanical patent fields – including cases involving oil-drilling technologies.

Ms. Bastos' work includes enforcing and defending injunctions, navigating the unique landscape of biosimilars in Brazil, and steering strategies involving key active pharmaceutical ingredients to ensure robust patent protection. She excels at managing large, multifaceted litigation projects, often involving high technical complexity and strategic regulatory issues.

At Licks Attorneys, Ms. Bastos enhances the firm's leading patent litigation practice by combining deep technical insight with a results-driven approach, working closely with clients to protect innovation, secure enforceable rights, and anticipate legal risks.
